"Bury Your Hammer And Buy a Horn," C. Of C. Slogan

"Bury your hammer and buy a horn," this is the slogan which has been adopted by the Chamber of Commerce for its campaign to open next Tuesday morning. Both armies—the "Under Forties," under "General" C. C. Breeden; the "Over Forties," under "General" Louis J. Moss—will use the slogan in their efforts to bring the army which wins the most members in the campaign has got to bury that knocking habit and boost the loudest for Memphis and the chamber.

The final organization meeting of the teams was held at the chamber luncheon at 12:30 o'clock Friday, and was presided over by Joseph Sewbarger, commander-in-chief of the drive. At this meeting W. H. Fitzhugh, president of the chamber, declared that as things now stand New Orleans is the only Southern city with a chamber of commerce of larger membership than the Memphis chamber, and that he had no doubt that the campaign would result in Memphis surpassing New Orleans. "We have got over 1,000 new members," said Mr. Fitzhugh. It was decided to ask Jack McLeary, of the Virginia Hotel and Iron company, to take charge of the musical features which will be put on during the campaign. O. K. Houck has already been designated director of "stunts," and he will see that some startling things are done to draw the attention of the public to the fact that the Chamber of Commerce is going out after new members.

YAZOO SPANISH MOSS TO BE PUT ON MARKET

YAZOO CITY, Miss., June 12. (Sp.)—Miss Lillian Lewis, Yazoo county home demonstration agent, has a new plan that promises important developments in the marketing of Spanish moss. The plan is to buy the moss from the growers and to have it put on the market. The state district agents, who perhaps know more of the plan than any person other than those immediately connected with it, are very much interested. Through them the A. and M. college is watching the plan closely and it is intimated that the federal government will send a motion picture operator here that the information which may be put in pictures may be distributed to the boys and girls throughout the South.

Already Mrs. R. E. Jones, the senior partner of the Mississippi Grocery company, of Yazoo City, and Mrs. A. E. John, the wife of the junior partner of the same manufacturing plant, who use it. They have investigated the matter with Miss Lewis and are confident that the plan may be made an excellent success. The state district demonstration agents promise to put the moss on the market in other counties and to have those counties ship to the local market.

YAZOO GIRL DOES AVIATION STUNTS

Atlantic City Is Amazed Over Aerial Flip-Flops of Lass From Mississippi.

YAZOO CITY, Miss., June 12. (Sp.)—Pretty Miss Josephine Dunn, a Yazoo City school girl, who, a year ago, was driving a big automobile about the streets of Yazoo City with the skill of a trained mechanic, is making a reputation for herself in the East now as an aviator. Her success has been phenomenal, and at the permanent aviation camp established by the government at Atlantic City, N. J., the other day, she surprised even her instructor by a flight alone on which she performed many of the stunts of a seasoned flyer. Her schooling in aviation has been brief, indeed.

Miss Dunn's father was the late R. L. Dunn, for many years the cashier of the First National bank of Yazoo City. When the Federal Farm Loan bank was established in New Orleans he was called to that place to take charge of it. His death occurred in New Orleans some three years ago and his wife and daughter came back to Yazoo City to live. They made their home on a big plantation near Yazoo City. A son, R. L. Dunn, Jr., a youth of 17, joined the army and in Texas was transferred into aviation.

It was in visiting this brother who is now assistant instructor to Maj. Baldwin, at Atlantic City, recently that Miss Josephine Dunn was charmed with a ground view of aviation and decided to undertake to learn the new profession.

Styling her "a visitor from Mississippi who has decided to take up aviation," an Atlantic City paper tells of her exploit there recently. She had permitted it seems, to pilot a craft in which her instructor rode and had made excellent progress, so she was promised that she might make a flight alone. Aviators on the grounds were alarmed when they saw the machine begin to slip and turn backward at an altitude of 1,500 feet. A short time they thought the young pilot had lost control of her machine, then she very bravely crawled over backward with the skill and grace of a veteran and descended.

"Oh, I just thought I would try it," said the young lady by way of explanation. "I watched Eddy do it many times and it looked easy. All that was needed was confidence and I just said to myself if Eddy can do it I can. Then when I got high enough and was sure I had plenty of room to turn, I turned the control as Eddy does it, and the plane turned over just as nice as could be."

Miss Dunn's brother is also making a name for himself in aviation. He has recently won races of national prominence.

There has been a slight variation in our bread during the past few days, due to delay in transit of a car of the special flour we use. This car arrived on the 11th. We ask all of our customers to note the difference in our bread now as compared with the past few days prior to the 12th.

We will assure all of our customers this will never happen again. We had underestimated the amount of business we would do, and this, together with delay in transit of flour, forced us to use the best we could get for a few days.
